AT the Court at St. James's, the 21st Day of November, 1770.
The KING's most Excellent Majesty in Council.
WHEREAS His Majesty was graciously pleased, by His Royal Proclamation, bearing Date the Twelfth Day of October last, to promise and declare, amongst other Things, that the Bounties of Three Pounds for every Able Seaman, and of Two Pounds for every Ordinary Seaman, should be paid to every such Seaman respectively, who should, on or before the Thirtieth Day of this Instant, voluntarily enter himself to serve in His Majesty's Royal Navy; and that a Reward of Two Pounds should be also paid to any Person who should, on or before the said Thirtieth Day of this Instant, discover any Seaman or Seamen who should conceal themselves, so that such Seaman or Seamen should be taken for His Majesty's said Service: And whereas the Time thereby limited for paying the said Bounties and Rewards is now near expiring; and it being judged expedient for His Majesty's Service, that the same should be continued for some longer Time; His Majesty, with the Advice of His Privy Council, doth therefore order, and it is hereby accordingly ordered, that the Time limited by the said Proclamation for Payment of the said Bounties and Rewards, be prolonged and extended from the said Thirtieth Day of this Instant (November) to the 1st Day of December next, inclusive. Whereof all Persons concerned are to take Notice, and govern themselves accordingly.

Whitehall, November 22, 1770.
BARON Nolcken, Envoy Extraordinary from his Swedish Majesty, having notified to me by Order of his Court, that on Account of the Plague raging in the Levant and in some Parts of Europe, no Ships or Travellers whatsoever could be admitted into the Ports or Frontiers of Sweden, without proper Bills of Health, he did give Notice to all Owners and Masters of Ships, and others whom it may concern, that they may apply to the Commissioners of His Majesty's Customs, and to the Principal Officers of the Customs in the Outports, for such Bills of Health.

ROCHEFORD.

St. James's, November 21.
This Day the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor (attended by the Sheriff) some of the Aldermen, and Common Council, of the City of London, waited upon His Majesty, (being introduced by the Right Honourable the Earl of Hertford, Lord Chamberlain of His Majesty's Household) with the following Address, Remonstrance, and Petition; which was read by Sir James Hodges, Town Clerk.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty.
The humble Address, Remonstrance, and Petition of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Commons of the City of London, in Common Council assembled.

WHAT Your Majesty's most Excellent Majesty and Councils, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common Council assembled, most humbly beg Leave to approach your Majesty, and most dutifully to lay again at the Foot of the Throne our aggravated Grievances, and earnest Supplications: Although through Prevalence of evil Counsellors, our just Complaints have hitherto met with Repulse and Reprehend, nevertheless we will not forego the last Consolation of the unhappy Hope that our Sufferings will at Length find an End, from the innate Goodness of your Majesty; the gracious Effects of which have, to our unspeakable Grief, been intercepted from your injured People, by a fatal Conspiracy of malevolent Influences around the Throne.

We therefore again implore your Majesty, in this sad Crisis, with Hearts big with Sorrow, and warm with Affection, not to be induced by false Suggestions, contrary to the Benignity of your Royal Nature, to shut up your paternal Compassion and Justice against the Prayers of unhappy Subjects, claiming, as we now again presume to do, with equal Humility and freedom, your indisputable Birthrights, Freedom of Election, and Right of Petitioning. We have seen the known Law of the Land, the sure Guardian of Right, trodden down; and by the Influence of daring Ministers, arbitrary Discretion, the Law of Tyrants, set up to overthrow the Choice of the Electors; and nominate to a Seat in Parliament a Person not chosen by the People.

Your Majesty's Throne is founded on the free Exercise of this great Right of Election; to preserve it inviolate is true Loyalty; to undermine and destroy it is the most compendious Treason against the whole Constitution.

Deign then, Sir, amidst the complicated Dangers which surround us, to restore Satisfaction and Harmony to your faithful Subjects, by removing from your Majesty's Presence all evil Counsellors, and by recurring to the recent Sense of your People taken in a new Parliament.

By such an Exertion alone of your own Royal Wisdom and Virtue, the various Wounds of the Constitution can be effectually healed; and, by Representatives freely chosen, and acting independently, the salutary Awe of Parliament cannot fail to secure to us that sacred Bulwark of English Liberty, the Trial by Jury, against the dangerous Designs of those who have dared openly to attempt to mutilate its Power, and destroy its Efficacy.

So will Dissatisfaction and national Weakness change at once into Public Confidence, Order, Strength, and Dignity; and this boasted Constitution of England, so late the Envy of Nations, no longer hold forth to the Derision of Europe; Electors not suffered to elect; Juries forbid to judge of the whole Matter in Issue before them; and dutiful Petitioners, demonstrating the most flagrant Grievances, branded by the Ministers who oppress them, as seditious Infractions of that Constitution which we religiously revere, and together with your Majesty's Sacred Person, will unceasingly defend against all Enemies and Betrayers.

To which Address, Remonstrance, and Petition, His Majesty was pleased to return the following Answer: I have seen no Reason to alter the Opinion expressed in my Answer to your former Address upon this Subject. I cannot comply with the Prayer of your Petition.

I have seen no Reason to alter the Opinion expressed in my Answer to your former Address upon this Subject. I cannot comply with the Prayer of your Petition.

Remain, Jan. November 18. His most Christian Majesty and the Royal Family will leave this Place on the 20th Instant.
